the Lord Savile's famous forged Letter of Invitation, which brought the Scots into England in the Year 1640, and gave Occasion to the Beginning of the Civil Wars. This Letter being never before publish'd, led the Earl of Clarendon, Bishop Burnet, Mr. Echard, Dr. Welwood, and other Writers into egregious Mistakes upon this Head. To all which is prefix'd some Account of the Liberties taken with Clarendon's History before it came to the Press, such Liberties as make it doubtful what Part is Clarendon's, and what not. The whole collected from the most authentick Memoirs, manuscripted and printed. By the Author of the Critical History of England. Printed for J. Pemberton in Fleetstreet, R. Ford, R. Hett, and J. Gray in the Poultry, and T. Cox under the Royal Exchange. Folio. Price 1 l. 8 s.

II. An Exposition of the Church Catechism. By Samuel Clarke, D. D. late Rector of St. James's, Westminster. Published from the Author's Manuscript, by John Clarke, D. D. Dean of Sarum. Printed for J. and J. Knapton at the Crown in St. Paul's Church-yard. 8vo. Price 5 s.

III. Nine Commentaries upon Fevers. To which are added, Two Epistles concerning the Small Pox, address'd to Dr. Mead. Wherein is shewn the Benefit of Purging in the Second Fever of the confluent Sort, and a Description of some particular Kinds. Written in Latin by the late learned Dr. John Freind. Translated into English by Tho. Dale, M. D. Printed for T. Cox under the Royal Exchange. 8vo. Price 4 s. 6 d.

PROPOSALS.

A Proposal for printing an Universal History, from the earliest Account of Time to the present.

It hath been justly complain'd, that though the World abounds with Books, which pass for General Histories, a General History is a thing still wanting: For either they do not descend low enough, which is the Defect of Sir Walter Raleigh's; or if they do, they seldom go further than the European Nations, which is the Fault of Dr. Howel's, the most general History extant in English; not to mention several other Imperfections in them, for want of the the Discoveries and Improvements which have been made in History, Chronology, and Geography since their Time: And this Complaint having of late encreased, especially since the Establishment of Professorships for Modern History in the Universities, which has brought this Study more in Esteem; a Society of Gentlemen have at last undertaken effectually to remove the Cause, by publishing a History of all Nations whatever, both antient and modern.

In the Execution of this Design, the History of every Nation will be given apart; by which Means the lesser Monarchies and States will be freed from the historical Bondage of the greater, in which they are generally involved by Authors; who treat them with as much Tyranny as their Conquerors, never mentioning them but occasionally: So that they must necessarily want a continued, uniform, and perfect History of their Affairs, which, by this Means, they will receive.

Each particular History will begin from the first Notice to be found of the People, and carried down through the several Revolutions and Changes in their Government and Religion, to their Dissolution, or some remarkable Period, at which it may be thought proper to break off for the present. All their Migrations and Conquests will be related, with an exact Account of the Successions and Reigns of their respective Emperors, Kings, Princes, or other Rulers. Whatever they have render'd themselves famous for, whether Arms, Learning, Inventions, or Trade, shall be taken Notice of; and in short, nothing omitted which may be useful or instructive.

Particular Care will be taken all along to settle the Geography and Chronology, those two Eyes of History. With regard to the first, it is designed to give a succinct, but exact Account of the original County of each Nation, with Maps in proper Places; and according to Herodotus's Rule, to mention the small Cities, as well as the great, which occur in every Author; not forgetting to point out their Situations, where necessary and practicable. As to the Chronology, the Dates of all memorable Facts will be inserted according to the Aera of the Nation whose History is given, and that of CHRIST, reckoning backwards and forwards. In this Part the Undertakers will find themselves obliged to differ from some of our late Chronologers, who have fallen into unaccountable Mistakes about the Beginnings and

H h

Periods

Periods of some of the antient Monarchies, by departing from the Authority of the best Historians, to follow an Hypothesis of their own. And in order to connect and mix the Histories of the Nations, which are divided in the Work itself, compleat Chronological Tables will be added to the End of each Volume.

The publick may be assured, that this is to be no Translation from the French, or a Collection from Collections; but the whole will be extracted from the original Authors, which will be constantly quoted. In the antient History, the Foundation will be the Antients themselves, and the Moderns will be made use of only as Comments upon them: And in the Modern, greater Regard will always be had to an Author who writes the History of the Age he lived in, than to one who wrote in the following; and to one who lived near the Times he writes of, than to him who lived later, making an Allowance for the Partiality of Authors, where it may apparently be presumed. And as the Undertakers will not trust to what others have done before them, neither will they trust one Nation for the History of another; but will constantly have Recourse to their own Historians, as best qualified to give an Account of their own Affairs: For this Reason, the greatest Part of what relates to Oriental History, so little known at present in Europe, will be extracted immediately from the best Oriental Authors, of which our Libraries afford plenty, though hitherto but little used; for it seems altogether as unreasonable to take the History of the Arabians, Persians, Turks, &c. from the Greek or other European Authors, as to compile the European History out of the Oriental.

It may be proper further to acquaint the Publick, that in this Collection it is not the Undertakers Design to present the Shadow, and leave the Substance unregarded; or to omit the useful Part, as some of our modern Historians have done, to introduce long Descriptions of Battels and Sieges, made Speeches, Letters, and other Digressions, which, though they may be excusable in particular Histories, ought to be carefully avoided in general ones, where nothing but the Essentials should find a Place.

For the same Reason, the Undertakers will avoid, as much as possible, entering into Controversy, especially about Points which are absolutely uncertain or undecidable: And will only engage engage that Way on some particular Occasions, and where they can propose effectually to clear up a Difficulty to the Reader's Satisfaction. In a word, they will endeavour equally to avoid the Extreams of Brevity and Prolixity: And there will be the more Necessity for observing this just Medium, in order to bring such a vast Extent of Matter into moderate Bounds, without injuring any Part of the History.

The Publick need not be informed that this Collection will save them the Expence of buying Numbers of Volumes, besides the Difficulty of coming at others, which are only to be found in the Libraries of the Curious, and the Trouble of reading such Multitudes of them when got; for every one must conclude as much from the Nature of the Design. And to make it still more convenient to every Body, as well as to alleviate the Expence to themselves, the Booksellers propose to publish it by twenty Sheets a Month, till the whole is finished, which it is intended to bring within the Compass of four Volumes in Folio, on the same Letter and Paper with this Proposal, which is given as a Specimen. By this Means also, the Publick will gradually see how the Design is executed; and the Booksellers, who have set this Work on foot purely at the Motion of several Gentlemen of Figure and Learning, desire the Encouragement of the Publick no longer than the Performance shall appear to deserve it, having an entire Confidence in the Gentlemen concerned, to whom they leave the whole Conduct and Management of it.

It is proposed not to publish the first Number till the first Day of February next, that so, by having a sufficient Quantity of Sheets advance, the publick may never be in Danger of being disappointed of their monthly Quota, or the Undertakers under a Necessity of hurrying on the Work, in order to keep up with the Press. In the mean time, it is hoped those Gentlemen who desire to see such a Work as this well executed, and have made any Remarks which may tend either to explain a Doubt, clear up a Difficulty, discover an Error, or give new Light into any Point of History, Chronology, or Geography, will be such Friends to the Design as to communicate them to the Undertakers (directed for J. CROKATT, as underneath) of which publick Acknowledgment shall be made; and that they will give all Encouragement ment to a Work of Use, which is the Growth of their own Country.

To be satisfied how far this Collection will exceed any Thing that hath hitherto appeared, the Readers need only compare the Contents of any other Work of this Kind with a compleat Plan of the Design, which will be inserted in the next Catalogue.

The Price of every Twenty Sheets will be Three Shillings and Six Pence, which, it is hoped, will not be thought unreasonable, considering the great Labour and Expence which will be inevitable in so extensive an Undertaking.

The Booksellers, ROBERT GOSLING, B. MOTTE, J. CROKATT, near St. Dunstan's Church in Fleetstreet; S. BIRT in Ave-Mary-Lane; J. BATLEY in Pater-noster-Row; T. ASTLEY in St. Paul's Church-yard; G. STRAHAN and E. SYMON against the Royal Exchange in Cornhill.

N. B. Those Gentlemen who intend to be Encouragers of this Undertaking, are desired immediately to transmit their Names and Place of Abode to J. CROKATT.

Printed in two large Folio Volumes, adorn'd with Eighty Copper-Plates,

A Survey of the Cities of London and Westminster. Containing the Original, Antiquity, Increase, Modern Estate and Government of those great Cities. Written at first in the Year 1598, By John Stow, Citizen and Native of London; since reprinted and augmented by the Author; and afterwards by A. M. H. D. and others; now lately corrected, improved, and very much enlarged, and the Survey and History brought down from the Year 1633 (being near Fourscore Years since it was last printed) to the present Time, By John Strype, M. A. a Native also of the said City. Illustrated with exact Maps of the City and Suburbs, and of all the Wards, and likewise of the Out-Parishes of London and Westminster: Together with many other fair Draughts of the most eminent and publick Edifices and Monuments. To which is prefix'd, the Life of the Author, writ by the Editor. At the End is added, An Appendix of certain Tracts, Discourses, and Remarks, concerning the State of the City of London. Together with a Perambulation, or Circuit-Walk four or five Miles round about London, to the Parish Churches, describing the Monuments of the Dead there inter'd; with other Antiquities observable in those Places. And concluding with a second Appendix, as a Supply and Review. And a large Index of the whole Work. Printed for Francis TAYLOR, at the South Entrance of the Royal Exchange.
